

Where Sustainability and Safety Meet

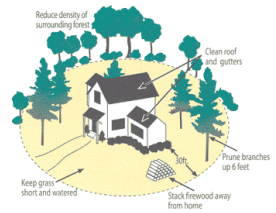

Since 2010,
1.8 BILLION LBS. OF GREENHOUSE GASES
have been emitted into the atmosphere due to the lack of home fire sprinklers.

Safety can be Green

What does product sustainability mean for tomorrow's fire safety?

WASHINGTON STATE ASSOCIATION OF FIRE MARSHALS

2024 Guide to Membership

Email: wsafm@wsafm.com

Member Benefits

- Education and Training. Agency Membership comes with free access to a monthly educational webinar series. See list of webinars under events below. Agency members also receive a reduced registration fee for WSAFM sponsored classes and conferences including the annual Fire Prevention Institute.
- CEUs. WSAFM is a preferred provider of ICC continuing education units (CEUs).
- Voting Rights. Agency Membership has association voting privileges including the right to vote in by-law changes and the election of association officers and directors.
- Leadership Opportunities. Members can be elected to the WSAFM Board of Directors.
- Newsletters. Members receive a copy of the WSAFM newsletter which outlines association activities, training events, code updates, legislative activities and more. Three editions of the newsletter are distributed each year.
- Email Announcements. Training events and other association announcements emailed to you.
- Networking. Current members have years of experience in fire codes and community risk reduction with experience at the local, state, and national levels.
- Representation. WSAFM members represent the association membership in many areas including legislative bill monitoring and testimony, state, and national code development and at various meetings for state and national organizations.

WSAFM Board Meetings

Board meetings are open to all members and participation is encouraged. Meetings are typically held online and scheduled for the third Wednesday of alternating months from 9am to 11am starting in February. In person meetings are typically planned for one of the spring meetings and the meeting at the Fire Prevention Institute in October. If you are interested in attending a board meeting, please email us at wsafm@wsafm.com for exact meeting dates and times.
